Sub: Invitation to XLIII Indian Social Science Congress, January 17-21, 2020, Bengaluru Central University, Bengaluru, Karnataka

Dear Sir/Madam,

The 43rd session of Indian Social Science Congress will be held between January 17 and 21, 2020 at Bengaluru Central University, Bengaluru, Karnataka. Focal theme for the congress is 'Current Science of Nature-Human-Society In India'. Its details are given in this booklet. Question before scientists/policy planners/social activists/philosophers/educationists are: What is status of Science and Technology (S&T) in India today? Is India now self-reliant in S &T? Is Indian S&T id any where closer to European, American, Japanese and Chinese Science? What is the quality of science of Nature, Human-society in India today? Is science education and research good in India? Is Indian S &T superior or equal to China, USA and Europe? If not, what is wrong with it? What about generation and utilization of scientific manpower? Is the environment for teaching and research in Universities/College/Research Institutes more congenial as compared to 1965-1970.

Did India choose a right path just to follow what is happening in western part of world? What about millions of people who are still working hard to meet two meals, shelter, cloth, education, health and dignity of self. Has our scientific endeavor attempted to solve the problems poverty? Has our science and technology transformed the means of production and distribution in rural areas? Has our social science addressed the problems through democratic governance? Has our body politics ensured dignified life to women and downtrodden? Is law and order protecting life of weaker sections? All these and many more questions demand a dispassionate critical and objective appraisal of current science and technology in Democratic Republic of India.

Indian Social Science Academy and Bengaluru Central University, therefore, propose to initiate a process of critical appraisal of current science of Nature-Human-Society in India during its 43rd Indian Social Science Congress.

We, therefore, are happy to invite you, your colleagues, and students to present research based scientific papers either on issues related to the focal theme 'Current Science of Nature-Human-Society In India' or research on any discipline and participate in the deliberations of the XLIII Indian Social Science Congress.

There are 28 subject Research Committees representing 32 discipline and interdisciplinary Thematic Panels covering major social problems demanding scientific solutions. Besides, numerous symposia themes are listed in this booklet.

We request you kindly to give it wider publicity within your University/College/Institute and help us in enlisting participation of large number of good researchers in the congress. We shall also request you to send us names with addresses, e-mails and telephones of such scientists, social thinkers, policy planners who you know have done good works.

Looking forward for a positive response and pleasant meeting during the XLIII Indian Social Science Congress.

With warm regards,

Yours sincerely,

(Baisnab C. Tripathy)

XLIII INDIAN SOCIAL SCIENCE CONGRESS

0100 PREAMBLE

Indian Social Science Academy (ISSA) organizes Indian Social Science Congress (ISSC) every year with a view to discovering, developing and disseminating science of Nature-Human-Society through critical appraisal and integration of current research and theory in all subjects of science taught and researched in Indian Universities, Colleges, IITs, IIITs, NITs, Regional Engineering Colleges, Medical Colleges, AIIMS, PGIs, NISERS, ISERS, CSIR, ICAR, ICPR, ICMR, ICSSR and ICHR. Institutes/Laboratories for making India and its peoples creative, self-reliant, prosperous, healthy and happy while living in peace and harmony with Nature.

0200 HISTORY

Indian Social Science Academy (originally, Indian Academy of Social Sciences) was established on August 15, 1974 with its headquarters at Allahabad with a view to creating new science of Nature-Human-Society in India capable of creating new democratic Republic of India free from hunger, disease, ignorance, discrimination, oppression of man by man. Two years later it began organizing National Science Congress. It named it Indian Social Science Congress. First Indian Social Science Congress was held from February 15 to 17, 1976 at Allahabad. Since then it has been held at different universities, details of which are given on p 53. The 40th session of the Indian Social Science Congress was held from December 19-23, 2016 at University of Mysore, Mysuru and the 41st session of it was held from Dec 18 to 22, 2017 at Periyar University, Salem. The 42nd Indian Social Science Congress was held from December 27 to 31, 2018 at Kalinga Institute of Industrial Technology, Bhubaneswar. Each ISSC has a focal theme, details of which are given on p 53.

All subjects/disciplines of science of Nature-Humans-Society are represented in Indian Social Science Congress. There are 28 Research Committees and 21 Interdisciplinary Thematic Panels in it.

Word Science in Indian Social Science Congress is prefixed with social as it is the result of collective mental and physical labour. It is without any boundary and, is indivisible. Indian Social Science Congress, therefore, is, indeed, science congress in true sense.

University Grants Commission recognizes Indian Social Science Congress on par with Indian Science Congress with distinction of having great potentiality for development of new indigenous science and technology needed for self-reliant national development. Every session of Indian Social Science Congress has a focal theme.

FOCAL THEME

CURRENT SCIENCE OF NATURE-HUMAN-SOCIETY IN INDIA

(A Note)

0100 PREAMBLE

Indian Social Science Academy and Bengaluru Central University have resolved to focus deliberations of the 43rd Indian Social Science Congress on ‘Current Science of Nature-Human-Society in India’ with a view to determining nature and extent of connection/correlation between the national goals of self-reliant growth, removal of poverty, hunger, disease, ignorance, illiteracy, discrimination, oppression, rapes, murders, violence, inequality and making India a truly secular Democratic Republic having strong pillars of equality, freedom, fraternity and social justice, where all Indians irrespective of their class, caste, creed, gender and region are seen enjoying equally high order of material, social and cultural life.

0200 CONTEXT

Indian Parliament passed a Scientific Policy Resolution (SPR) in 1958 with a sole object of making India self-reliant on its own Science and Technology. Realizing the connection between Science, Technology and problems of poverty, hunger, disease, etc and the liberating power of science, the Parliament assigned primary role to science and scientists for making Democratic Republic of India a truly democratic, prosperous, modern nation having no trace of colonial poverty, hunger, ignorance, disease, discrimination, exploitation, rich and poor divide, etc. New Universities, Institutes and Laboratories were established. Managers of Science and Technology declared India having third largest manpower in Science and Technology in the world in 1970s. It was, then, said that India was far ahead of China in Science and Technology. How is science and Technology today? Managers of Science and Technology no longer speak about it.

In 1983, the Government of India instead of Parliament issued Technology Policy Statement in lieu of Technology policy. In early 2000 the Government of India started creating new science education institutes naming Indian Institute of Science Education and Research, National Institute of Science Education and Research in different parts of India. Department of Science and Technology launched new programmes of incentivisation of science education and research between 2006-10. These were designed to attract young scientists. DST also offered fellowships to those who had migrated to USA and had done well in science there.

Democratic Republic of India converted Imperial Council of Industrial Research into Council of Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR) and Imperial Council of Agricultural Research into Indian Council of Agricultural Research (ICAR). It also setup Indian Council of Medical Research and several research institutes within it. Later in late 1960s and early 1970s Indian Council of Social Science Research, Indian Council of Philosophical Research and Indian Council of Historical Research were established.

All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS) was established as the premier referral and research institute. Later on Post Graduate Medical Institutes (PGI) were established in Chandigarh, Pondicherry and Lucknow. Since then several AIIMS and PGI's have been established all over India.

Indian Institute of Technology was setup at Kharagpur, Kanpur, Madras (now Chennai) and Bombay (now Mumbai) and later on several IITs have been set up all over India.

Three Science Academies, namely, Indian National Science Academy (INSA), National Academy of Science India (NASI) and Indian Science Academy (ISA) were established during British rule, Fourth Science Academy, Indian Academy of Social Sciences (now Indian Social Science Academy, (ISSA) was established on August 15, 1974 in order to bring all subjects of Nature-Human-Society under one umbrella and give a new direction to Science and Technology in consonance with the democratic needs, aspirations and creative urges of people of India. Also, Agricultural Science Academy, Engineering Science Academy and Medical Science Academy were established in 1980's.

Democratic Republic of India setup several educational commissions (Mudaliar Commission, Kothari Commission, etc.) with a view to replacing British colonial education system by a new democratic education system in tune with new democratic aspirations of peoples of India. "Education for all", "Free Universal Education" and "Health for All" became the new slogans.

Indian Science Congress Association was established in 1914 by the Indian scientists in British India who also established Association for Cultivation of Science. Indian Academy of Social Sciences, (now Indian Social Science Academy) began organizing Indian Social Science Congress in 1976. It was a new milestone in the realm of science as it brought all subjects of science of Nature-Human society together and termed science as social and indivisible. It was a unique endeavour to break the current divisions in science and promote the true social nature of scientific knowledge called science of Nature-Human society. Also, there are national, regional and local subject associations of all subjects including languages. Hindi Sahitya Akademi and Lalit Kala Academy too were established.

Jamshedji Tata setup Indian Institute of Science at Bangalore (now Bengaluru). Later on he also setup Tata Institute of Fundamental Research and Tata Institute of Social Science at Bombay (now Mumbai). Government of India established Atomic Research Centre (now Bhabha Atomic Research Centre) after independence. Indian Space Research Organization (ISRO) too was established.

NCERT was established for improving education in Schools. Later each state established State Council of Education, Research and Training (SCERT).

A new Commission called University Grants Commission (UGC) was established by the Parliament. UGC was set up to coordinate and maintain standards in higher education. Later on the government of India also set up All India Council of Technical Education, National Council of Teachers Education, Council of Architecture, Pharmacy Council, Bar Council and so on. These attempted to coordinate, promote and regulate education in their respective areas.

Government of India established Indian Institute of Advanced Study at Shimla. UGC started establishing Advanced or special Study Centers in good University departments in late 1970s. It also established special institutes for interdisciplinary research in selected universities and inter-university centers in Astrophysics and Astronomy, Nuclear Science Centre, Consortium of education Communication, Information and library network, and National Assessment and Accreditation Council. All these attempted to promote research in their respective areas.

A process of creating elite science education and Research Institutes began in late 1980's under the overall leadership of Prof. C.N.R.Rao, who has been later on conferred 'Bharat Ratna' award for it. The new institutes were named 'National Institute of Science Education and Research (NISER) or Institute of Science Education Research (ISER). Science Olympiad was added to it. Homi Bhabha Centre for Science Education emerged under TFIR in 1980's.

Later teacherless education, namely, Open education, Distance Education, Open University, Adult Education, Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan, etc., were added. A programme called "Operation Black Board" was launched on war footing. Parliament made education the fundamental rights through an Act, though till date it has not been implemented. The World Bank entered Indian Education in early 1980s, although secretly.

With the launching of Structural Adjustment Programmes (SAP) called Liberalisation, Privatisation, Globalisation (LPG) in 1991, scene in education changed. Birla-Ambani (the top Indian Industrialists) Report appeared as the new guideline to education in India. Doors of education were wide opened for private players and the corporate world. "Policy of Contract Teaching" on the pattern of "Policy of Contract Labour" in industries and government and Contract Farming in Agriculture was introduced. Thus, began the process of teacherless education and research in Indian Universities, schools, Colleges and Institutions. Coaching Institutions and Online institutions mushroomed all over India, rendering Schools, Colleges and Universities thus redundant.

A process of a making education a saleable commodity, was set into motion by opening the floodgates of privatization. Now corporate capital regulates education. According to Higher Education Survey Report 2017, India has 864 Universities and 40,026 Colleges. Out of 864 universities, 330 are Private Universities. Standalone institutions of national importance including number of IITs and AIIMS has multiplied and reached to 100.

It ought to be noted that several patriotic Indians had set up new Universities and Schools in British India. Nanabhai Bhatt Established Lok Shiksha (Peoples Education) in Amla village in Bhavnagar District of Gujarat. Later he established Lok Gram Bharati Vidyapith at Sanosora. Rabindranath Tagore had created wonderful university called Visva -Bharati at Santiniketan in West Bengal. Pandit Madan Mohan Malaviya established Kashi Hindu University at Banaras. Sir Syed Ahmad Khan established Aligarh Muslim University at Aligarh. Jamia Millia Islamia in Delhi came later. Mahatma Gandhi had established Gujarat Vidyapith in 1918 at Ahmadabad. All these symbolized quest for new democratic education system in opposition to the colonial British Education System.

Question arises: What is status of Science and Technology (S&T) in India today? Is India now self-reliant in S &T? Is Indian S&T superior to European, American and Chinese Science? What is the quality of science Of Nature Human-society in India today? Is science education and research good in India? Is Indian S &T superior or equal to China, USA and Europe? If not, what is wrong with it? What about generation and utilization of scientific manpower? Is the environment for teaching and research in Universities/College/Research Institutes more congenial as compared to 1965-1970. All these and many more questions demand a dispassionate critical and objective appraisal of current science and technology in Democratic Republic of India.

Did India choose a right path just to follow what is happening in western part of world? What about millions of people who are still working hard to meet two meals, shelter, cloth, education, health and dignity of self. Has our scientific endeavor attempted to solve the problems of poverty? Has our science and technology transformed the means of production and distribution in rural areas,? Has our social science addressed the problems through democratic governance? Has our body politics ensured dignified life to women and downtrodden? Is law and order protecting life of weaker sections?

Indian Social Science Academy and Bengaluru Central University, therefore, propose to initiate a process of critical appraisal of current science of Nature-Human-Society in India during its 43rd Indian Social Science Congress.

0300 NECESSITY

Question arises: What is the necessity for such a massive exercise?

Indian Social Science Academy has published many books based on deliberations at Indian Social Science Congress. Some of these are: Impact of Science and Technology, Social Perspective of Development of Science, Generation and Utilization of Indigenous Science and Technology, Microprocessors and Information Technology, Emerging Interfaces of Social Science and Public Policy In India, etc. What appears is alarming,

(a)- Quality of research in all subjects of science and technology is declining day by day, It is also devoid of power solving the problems of people at large. It is more focused on verifying/initiating what is being done in developed part of world.

(b)-School and University Education systems are in deep crisis. Almost all government schools and Universities are now without required number of teachers and administrative staff.

(c)-Critical mass of creative scientists necessary for the country of India is now very low.

(d)-Thousands of Ph.D holders are either unemployed or working as a contract teachers. Some are willing to work as fourth grade employee, which too is not available.

(e)-UGC supported Advanced Study Centres have either been closed or are on the verge of closure.UGC too is faced with closure. The great universities like Banaras Hindu University and Visva-Bharati are dying.

(f)-Almost all Indian Industries continue depending on foreign science and technology even after 70 years of India's independence. Programmes of digitization of India and 'Make in India' are based on imported technology. Bullet train, passenger and fighter planes are imported. Despite huge establishment of DRDO, Indian Defence System continues depending on imported weapons heavily. Even small service products like trolleys at all airports are imported. Though Indian people make all kinds of mats, yet mats for yoga are imported. Even Statues have to be made by foreign sculptures. Crores of youth holding B. Tech, M. Tech degrees are on the road. Parliament seems to be sleeping at its 1958 SPR resolution. If Science and Technology in India has grown as expected, how to explain that only 101billionaires control over 15% of GDP and bottom 50% have only 5% of GDP of India and Indian Poverty?

(g)-A new virus of appointment of Vice-Chancellors and Teachers on payment has emerged.

0400 OBJECTIVES

BENGALURU CENTRAL UNIVERSITY

Bengaluru Central University is among the rare few “City Universities” in India today. It inherits a 160-year-old legacy of academic and research excellence from the prestigious Central College at whose campus the University will be headquartered. An institution which was first established as a school in 1858 and as a college in 1876, Central College’s rich legacy of eminent people includes; Three Bharat Ratnas, Three Chief Ministers, Two Nobel Laureates, other scientists, jurists, educationists, industrialists and artists of which some were students and some were faculty at this great centre for learning. Dr.Homi J Bhabha taught here for eight years as its Vice Principal and the list goes on to include many legendary luminaries from Karnataka and across India who have walking through the gates of this great institution now graduating to become Bengaluru Central University.

Bengaluru Central University (BCU) was established vide Karnataka Act No. 34 of 2015, by the trifurcation of Bangalore University and shall be a state public university. It is preparing itself to face the formidable challenge of having to live up to the standard of excellence that has been part of the rich heritage of knowledge and research on the campus. The University has a unique opportunity to build a truly modern “City Public University” which is the knowledge Government to help it address the challenges and expectation of a globalised city of Bengaluru and the world at large, through research and innovation. The University aims to become the transformative force for Bengaluru city, resolving emerging local and global challenges by leveraging on the creativity, energy and resources of its students, faculty coaches and mentors. The University aspires to cater to the needs of new learners and thinkers of the 21st century through new pedagogies and program offerings, making it a true next generation learning initiative as envisioned by the Government. The University is also expected to serve hundreds of thousands of students who are from among the most diverse population, from across the country and help build capacity for the city’s industry and government.

BCU is embedded in the heart of Bengaluru. Its history, culture and responsibilities are interwoven, from its humble origins in 1858 through to the present day. The central one- third vertical size (as illustrated in adjacent figure), is the core of the city of the Bengaluru and is the jurisdiction that the University is established to support. The Central Colleges campus, the home of the new University, hosts Postgraduate Centres, one of the oldest science colleges in the country and a prestigious College of Engineering. The Central College gallery (subsequently named as Sir CV Raman Hall) was where the great Nobel laureate and physicist, Sir CV Raman, first announced his prize-winning research findings on the ‘scattering effects of light’. The University has the potential to create its own, unique future in the Higher Education space in India as a pioneering city University.

BCU also aspires to be among India’s most exciting public university ecosystem that supports its autonomous, affiliated and recognised institutions to address the demands of the 21st century needs of education, research and outreach. BCU comprises of a diverse group of institutions offering programs in Humanities, Social Sciences, Media, Commerce and Management, Basic and Applied Sciences, Education, Fine Arts and Vocational programs. Among these institutions, there are many institutions of excellence, popular and long-standing quality institutions such as MES College, Sheshadripuram College, Vijaya College, Al-Ameen College, St. Josephs College, Bishop Cottons, etc.

INDIAN SOCIAL SCIENCE ACADEMY

The Indian Social Science Academy (ISSA when abbreviated) is the first National Science Academy of independent Democratic Republic of India and fourth in chronicle order. The other three National Science Academies—Indian National Science Academy (INSA), Indian Academy of Sciences (IAS) and National Science Academy of India (NSAI) were born in British India. ISSA was born, 45 years ago, on August 15, 1974 at University of Allahabad in an assembly of young scientists. August 15, 1974 symbolized a beginning of an altogether new science reflecting democratic needs, aspirations, creative urges / potentialities, history, culture and traditions of peoples of India. Its name was carefully chosen for reflecting the true meaning and function of science. The setting up of the Indian Social Science Academy also heralded a beginning of a new movement for unity of science of Nature-Humans-Society by forging unity among all branches of science. Many described it as a barometer of science and society in India. In more than one sense ISSA is a unique body in the whole world.

Science means objective knowledge of non-living and living things / objects and knowledge means answer to questions ‘what’, ‘how’ and ‘why’, about a thing / object. The word ‘Nature’ connotes all forms of objects / things / matter including humans and societies. Nature-Humans-Society form one single continuum. So division of science into physics, chemistry, biology, environment, ecology, agriculture, medical, social, historical etc., is artificial and all such divisions provide partial objective knowledge of Nature-Humans-Society. Unity of Science of Nature-Humans-Society, therefore, is necessary for having correct and full understanding of Nature. Science, thus, viewed is unitary as well as uniting.

The Science as an objective knowledge of non-living and living objects / things / matter is produced through collective mental and physical labour of men and women. What is the result of collective labour is termed as social and what is social is public and not private. Science, therefore, is social. It springs in society comprising men and women. Because it is social it has social functions. It has the prime role in enabling men and women to enjoy higher quality of material, social and cultural life in harmony with Nature. However, all such social functions of science filter through different groups in the society because of which one doesn’t find one-to-one relationship between science and conditions of all men and women of all societies. Humans’ inability to create a science-based society is well reflected in modern societies all over the world.

The Indian Social Science Academy seeks to discover, develop and disseminate science of Nature-Humans-Society in Indian conditions in particular, and world conditions in general, with a mission to build a new Democratic Republic of India where there is no hunger, no poverty, no unemployment, no illiteracy, no disease, no bigotry, no superstitions, no communalism, no casteism and no discrimination of any form and where all men, women and children enjoy equally good quality of material, social, cultural and spiritual life in harmony with Nature without any kind of fear of violence, rape and murder.

Founders of the Indian Social Science Academy thought that science can benefit the peoples of a given society only when it is taught and researched in their own language. Communication of scientific research and science education in people’s own language, therefore, is key to the unfolding of creative potentialities of peoples and benefiting them. Unfortunately, even after 70 years of independence science in India is communicated through English. The end result is peoples of India who fund all scientific research are deprived of its benefits. The creativity in science is continuously declining. The Indian Social Science Academy., therefore, seeks to change it by creating necessary conditions for communication of scientific research and science education in Indian languages involving publication of research journals, monographs, books, etc., in Indian languages.

All branches of science as mentioned below constitute the Indian Social Science Academy:

1. Agricultural Science
2. Anthropology
3. Biological or Life Science
4. Biotechnology

5. Communication And Journalism
6. Commerce
7. Computer Science And Information Technology
8. Defence And Strategic Studies
9. Ecological And Environmental Science
10. Economics
11. Education
12. Engineering Science and Technology

Professor Baishnab C Tripathy

President, Indian Social Science Academy, Pragayraj, Uttar Pradesh, India

Baishnab Charan Tripathy, born on 5 January, 1952, in Kutilo, Cuttack, Orissa earned his BSc and MSc degrees with Botany major from Utkal University, Bhubaneswar after which he joined Jawaharlal Nehru University where he worked for PhD on Primary processes of photosynthesis and plant productivity in the Schools of Life Sciences and Environmental Sciences under the supervision of late Prof. Prasanna Mohanty. From 1981-1987 he studied and worked in the USA, first at the Ohio State University, Columbus (1981-83) as a post-doctoral researcher and worked on bioenergetics of chloroplast and mitochondria. Subsequently, he moved to University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign (1984-87) where he worked on heterogeneity of chlorophyll biosynthesis. On returning to India, in 1987 Dr. Baishnab C Tripathy joined as Assistant Professor in the School of Life Sciences, Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi, where he started his photobiology laboratory and subsequently promoted to Associate Professor and Professor. His primary focus of scientific research is to understand the mechanism of biosynthesis of the major pigment called chlorophyll on which whole living kingdom depends on for their survival. He has genetically manipulated the chlorophyll content in plants via biotechnological approach to increase photosynthesis, plant productivity and grain yield. Genetic transformation of rice, a C3 plant, to a highly productive and drought resistant C4 crop is another aspect of his research interest.

In collaboration with NASA, he sent plants to space to study the impact of zero (micro) gravity on plant growth, development and photosynthesis that could generate oxygen for human survival in long duration Mars Mission.

Due to his high excellent academic and scientific contribution, Professor Tripathy was elected as a fellow of the Indian National Science Academy in 2005. He is also a fellow of National Academy of Sciences of India and National Academy of Agricultural Sciences. His name appears in Marquis "Who is Who in the World".
